STUMP SPEAKERS

Will have to steer clear of the HemisFair area. The San Antonio City Council recently passed an ordinance prohibiting demonstrations or rallies of three or more persons in that area.

SMALL MUSEUMS

To make available professional guidance to communities interested in establishing small museums, the Texas State Historical Society is sponsoring the second Small Museum Institute in Fort Worth March 15-16. The program will emphasize the importance and needs of such facilities and workshops will cover every phase from financing to operation.

How wonderful it would be if some civic-minded individuals could attend and come home filled with the enthusiasm and determination it is going to take to get a museum started in Medina County. Now and then we seem to get set, on our mark, and then just set and set and set--without ever getting-going to do anything about a museum which we sorely need.

The Texas Historical Foundation, Box 12243, Austin, 78711 will supply any additional information.

SELF-RESTRAINT

Has been defined as the ability to eat one salted peanut. In Hong Kong, peanut problems (unsalted) were bugging the instructor of an agricultural crew harvesting the huge crop in Kwangtung Province. He addressed the group and moralized, using the philosophy of Chairman Mao Tse-tung to illustrate: "To correct selfish ideas, one should begin with refusal to take even a single peanut."

The harvesters had been guilty of munching an occasional peanut and letting a few fall on the ground for the commune's children to find for a surprise snack.

Two-hundred workers, convinced that if each of them ate only one peanut per day, the loss would amount to more than 11 pounds a week, meekly agreed not to eat any more peanuts, pick up any that fell to the ground, and make the kids give back any they picked up.

And that's the whole story in a peanut-shell. No Mao peanut-smuggling!

TO THE 70'S

On her 70th birthday in May, 1889, Oliver Wendell Holmes said this to Julia Ward Howe: "To be seventy years young is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old."

Feel any better now - either way?

SOME COMMENTS ON WATER

By Bradley Bailey

A series of public hearings on possible changes in the act which created the Edwards Underground Water District will be held in the near future by a committee appointed by Paul

Jahn, chairman of the board of EUWD.

This committee has one member from each of the five county areas in the district, and consists of the following EUWD directors: Grady Mahaffey, Uvalde; Bradley Bailey, Hondo; John O'Connell, San Antonio; Robert Knispel, San Marcos; and John L. Wilson, Jr., (chairman), New Braunfels. HERE APRIL 9

The first hearing is scheduled for March 15 at San Marcos on the 3rd floor of the Hays County Courthouse. The meeting in Medina County is tentatively set for April 9 at the Courthouse in Hondo. Official notice of the meetings will be published in a newspaper in each county prior to date of the meeting in that county.

PURPOSE

The purpose of these hearings is to enable all interested persons in the district to express their opinions and wishes concerning the possible legislative changes.

The statements submitted will be studied by the hearing committee, which will make recommendations to the board of directors of the Edwards District. The board will then take whatever action it deems best in requesting the Legislature to amend the Edwards Act.

It is to be hoped that our county officials, various city councils, civic organizations farm organizations and any other interested groups or individuals will present statements at the hearings.

Some of the suggested changes in our groundwater law are very controversial, while others may be acceptable to almost everyone.

The people of the district must help us decide which changes we MUST have to protect our reservoir, and which we MUST NOT have in order to protect our existing rights.

Your EUWD directors will be glad to explain the suggested legislation, and we will have copies of it available before the local hearing.

Work To Begin On Low Income Homes

Construction of three homes in the low income housing area will begin within ten days, Art Formann, president of the board of the non-profit Hondo Development Corporation announced Tuesday.

Corporation members are Formann, W. S. Porter, Hilmer Mueller, and members of the City Council.

Site location is the former Navigation Village on the west side of Hondo where paved streets, gutters and curbing will add to the attractiveness of the $6500 to $8500 units.

Schaeffer Construction Company of San Antonio is builder for the first three units. Construction will be frame with a little masonry, with buyer's choice of five attractive house plans.

Formann said that payments will range from $43 to $62 per month and will include taxes and insurance.

"For Hondo families of low-income who would like information about purchase of these units, Mr. Elley Dorband of the Farmers Home Administration and I will be in the Court House first floor, Tuesday mornings between the hours of 10 to 12 noon," said Formann.

Local business men who would like to participate in this civic enterprise can contact Formann for particulars.

MOD LETTER SAYS "THANKS"

The following letter was received by Bill Fly, chairman of the March of Dimes fund drive in Medina County.

February 15, 1968

Mr. W. S. Fly, chairman
Medina County Chapter
The National Foundation
Hondo, Texas
Dear Bill:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and Mr. Finger for joining other counties in Texas in their support of our Birth Defects Treatment Center program. Medina County Chapter's check in the amount of $200 is gratefully acknowledged.

Since the advent of our first Center in Texas, at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston which began its operation in January, 1964, more and more March of Dimes chapters have come to understand the urgent need for lending financial support to expand this most important aspect of our program in the fight against birth defects. And now, with our fourth center beginning operation this year at the Santa Rosa Children's Hospital in San Antonio, well over half of the Texas Chapters budget a sizeable portion of their funds in their yearly program participation.

Your chapter may be justifiably proud to share in the effort of providing better health for our children of today and working for a brighter future for generations to come.

Sincerely,
Tim Wood
Field Representative

Rev. Dr. O. Stockwell METHODISTS TO HEAR DR. STOCKWELL

A Methodist missionary, who was held prisoner by the Communists for 23 months and was the last missionary to leave the mainland of China after the Communist takeover, will be guest speaker at First Methodist Church here Sunday, March 10, at the morning service.

The Rev. Dr. Olin Stockwell, now home on retirement, has spent 32 years in China and Singapore as a teacher and minister. Prior to his return to the states, he taught at Trinity Theological College, a union institution of Methodists Anglicans and Presbyterians.

From 1929 to 1952, Dr. Stockwell was an educational and evangelistic missionary to China. He worked first in Fukien Province and later in Szechwan Province in West China, where he also did theological teaching.

IN PRISON

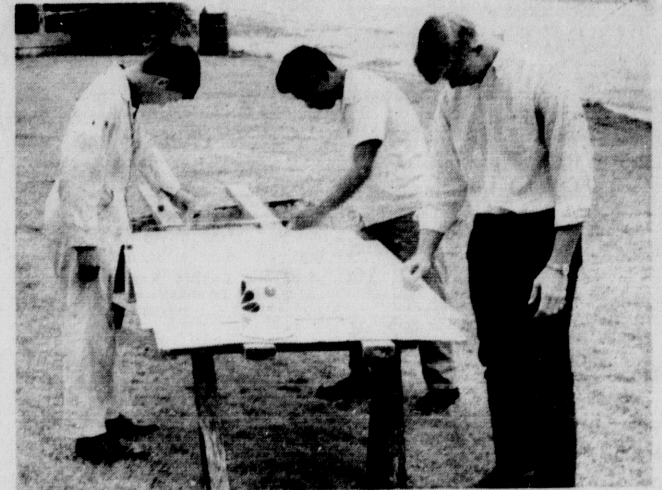

Dr. Stockwell was working in Chengtu when the Communists overran the city. He could have fled before the advancing army but remained to carry on his work. Some months later, however, he was arrested and after a Communist trial, in which he had no chance to defend himself, and was sentenced to prison on false charges of espionage.

During this time, he wrote two books, "With God in Red China" and "Meditations From a Prison Cell", both now out of print. He was released November 17, 1952.

A native of Perry, Oklahoma, Dr. Stockwell attended Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware and was graduated in 1922 with a bachelor of arts degree. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honors fraternity. He did theological study at Garrett Theological Seminary (now Garrett Theological Seminary) Evanston, Ill., and received a bachelor of divinity degree in 1924. He was later awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Ohio Wesleyan in 1953. Prior to entering the mission field, Dr. Stockwell was a pastor in Oklahoma for five years.

MRS. JERRY MUENNINK holds the plaque awarded to the Hondo Garden Club recently in the National Cleanest Town contest. Representing some of her co-workers in the city-wide project are (l-r) Mrs. Barnitz Carle, president; Mrs. Albert Vance and Mrs. W. L. Taylor.

A MAJOR PROJECT of the v-o-a-g classes at Hondo High is the construction of 40 special stands for the Hondo Garden Club to be used in their forthcoming spring flower show April 6. At work on the project which will put some money into the class treasury are (l-r) Bob Zerr, Raul Cadenas and Larry Muennink. Their teacher is John McAnelly.

ADS THAT GOT GRANDPA

To The Store On Time, With $$

As a theorem, you can hardly beat the one about a straight line being the shortest distance between two points.

So, also, is a convincing ad the shortest distance between customer and sale.

Today's ads, however clever and urbane, might learn a thing or two in directness of approach and sincerity of purpose from a random selection of some which appeared in this newspaper, circa 1904:

GENERAL MERCHANDISE: I offer no alluring baits and play no special lines but goods at proper prices — MEN'S WEAR: We want the cash and the cash we must have, therefore look not upon profits. Also, complete line of fancy suspenders.

DEPARTMENT STORE: There is a daintiness and a womanly fitness about this department that is pleasing and, as your underwear needs are brought home to you, we have no doubt you will use your woman's proverbial good judgement and take advantage of our special sale of ladies' fine undermuslins.

GRAIN & FEED STORE: Improved cotton seed which matures a full three weeks ahead of the boll weevil —

BARBER SHOP: First class tonorial service and a string band to furnish music for all and any occasions.

DRUG STORE: The best hair, hat, nail, tooth, hand, complexion and baby brushes in the city for the money — HARDWARE: If I cannot prove to your satisfaction that I sell goods as cheap as any of the Chicago mail order houses, I will take down my sign.

LADIES & GENTS FURNISHINGS: Go to friends for advice, women for pity, strangers for charity, relatives for nothing, and me for honest values. — FURNITURE STORE: If you will persist in getting married, persist also in getting OUR furniture.

HATTER: High class hatter; hotel & restaurant; also dealer in seeds, paints, poultry supplies & egg settings.

SPECIAL SALE: Our store is humbly busy and more attractive than ever. Do come in to see our immense gathering of ladies skirts and under-skirts.

Truth in advertising had an early start right here at home.

Necessary Ingredients

This editorial is quoted, in part, from the Harvard (Ill.) Herald's "Ingredients for a Town on the Move."

It could well apply to our own community at a time when the Hondo Chamber of Commerce is seeking to reactivate its industrial committee which has been in hibernation for too many months.

In answer to a frequent question, "How do you people in Harvard get things done?", the editorial replied:

"One has been the willingness to start from nothing, or the nearest thing to it, and build an idea, brick by brick. That has meant meeting after meeting. It has meant browbeating to find the right way, while at the same time holding personality clashes to a minimum. It has meant the triumph of steady minds over sincere and spirited discussion.

"A second ingredient has been the volunteering of privately owned and oft-times expensive facilities for the common good, without getting a dime of financial recompense.

"A third ingredients is a Chamber of Commerce that wants to be helpful. Harvard needs, every day of its life, a hustling Chamber of Commerce, led by aggressive committee chairmen who are not afraid to pursue ideas. We don't always have them. But we need them. We need them every day throughout the year — if we treasure this image Harvard possesses from other towns.

"And the most basic ingredient in this image is the zest to forego personal pleasure for public progress. To come home from a meeting convinced that 'we got something done'. For Harvard, this exhilaration has been frequent and tasted over the years by many.

"In the years ahead, Harvard must continue to prize these ingredients. They have proved themselves a winning formula. Keep them bright and shiny. They wear well."

Thank you, Harvard, Illinois. Mind if we try to follow your recipe?

Old Philosopher Figures Problem

Is Really The Cash Gap

Editor's note: The Old Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on a new gap this week.

Dear editor:
A man asked me the other day, "Say, don't you ever buy a newspaper? How come you're always depending on one to turn up on your farm free of charge?"

I will answer him in a minute.

According to a newspaper I found out here yesterday blown against my front gate and which I pulled off just before the extra wind resistance it was causing toppled the thing I'd fix the gate but it would be just wasted effort, a section of the fence itself is down and won't turn cattle anyway, they'd just go around, cows are like guerrilla fighters, they won't attack where they're supposed to anyway, according to this paper the latest problem this country's got in the Generation Gap. It went into great detail explaining how people under 30 can't understand people over 30, or maybe it's the other way around, and this explains some of the unbarred goings-on, sign-carrying shenanigans, etc. Maybe so, although it's possible the trouble with some of the youngsters is they not only don't understand the older generation, they don't understand themselves or what's going on in the world either and never will, regardless of what age bracket they're in.

But what got me interested was that this is a new Gap. Prior to that we had the Missile Gap, and I don't know whether we solved it, or didn't have it, or still have it. All I know is you don't hear much about it any more, one way or the other.

Then after that we had the Credibility Gap. They said the politicians were saying one thing and meaning another, or vice versa, or they were holding back and covering up, but I couldn't get excited about that. That system started thousands of years ago, and a man who hasn't learned to read between the lines in print and listen between the sentences in speeches, ought to back up and start over again.

Actually, the only gap that really bothers most towns, cities, nations and individuals, including me, is the Money Gap.

Me and Washington never seem to have the money we need to do what we'd like to, and it's been that way all our lives.

I guess this answers that man's question.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Vicente Arcos, At 85, Still 'Builds Memories'

By Edna G. McDade

After having reached his 85th birthday on January 10 this year, Vicente Arcos, retired farmer and dairyman, still has the interest and energy required to look after a flock of 150 chickens and gather the eggs daily at his home, 207 16th Street, Hondo.

He admits that crawling under the house to check on the nests made by hens with hide-away tendencies is not the snap it was in his younger years. "Eggs break mighty easy, too," he added.

"But a man can't just sit and twirl his walking cane and live on memories," said Arcos, whose interests include the seasonal planting of a vegetable garden big enough to supply the needs of several families. He has already set out tomato and pepper plants for this year's crop.

The visit to Mr. Arcos last week was made at the suggestion of his good friend, Alfred Bader, who said that Arcos should have "a story to tell."

Bader added that Vicente's father had practiced medicine in Hondo for some 25 years and that he had been a friend of his own father, the late Joe Bader.

Mrs. Ida Haas, now a resident in Brown's Nursing Center, recalls that Dr. Arcos was at the bedside of her mother when she died.

FROM SPAIN

We began the interview by talking about Dr. Carlos Arcos, Vicente, the oldest one of three survivors of the nine children of Dr. Arcos, said that his father had been educated in Madrid, Spain, and had received his degree in medicine from a university there. Vicente's mother was the former Francisca Gonzales, also of Madrid. Dr. Arcos and his wife came to the United States by way of Monterrey, Mexico. They lived in Eagle Pass before moving to Hondo in 1890 when Vicente was seven years old.

One of Vicente's treasured keepsakes is his father's old black iron mortar and pestle, which he used during his long years of practice.

"No telling how many pills and medicine came out of this little thing," he said. He laughingly referred to it as "an educated molcajete." Molcajete, or morcajete, is the Mexican word for a clay or stone mortar used to grind seeds and spices.

Because Mr. Arcos has flexible use of English with little accent, we carried on our conversation with a minimum of Spanish. He told me that his education had been very limited.

"When we came to Hondo," he said, "only very little opportunity was offered the Spanish-speaking children to get any education at all. We were set apart in a little room somewhere and had to do the best we could so not many remained for very long."

He remembered that one teacher had been named "Miss Annie" and he still appreciates the effort she made to teach him and his classmates what she could.

TAX RECEIPT

Going back to memories of his father, Mr. Arcos showed me one of the receipts for his occupational tax. It was Number 3252, issued May 3, 1893, to Dr. Carlos Arcos as physician and surgeon, and signed by Joe Ney, tax collector for Medina County. R. M. Finley was Comptroller of Accounts for the State of Texas at that time and the tax paid was State $5, County $2.50 for a total of $7.50.

"In those days," said the doctor's son, "I know it took several calls on patients to collect enough in fees to pay the $7.50." He remembered that his father had often been paid in vegetables, meat or other farm products and sometimes not at all.

Dr. Arcos died here in 1916, at the age of 104 years.

MARRIED AT 19

Vicente Arcos was 19 when he married Antonia Solis in 1902. His child bride was only 13 at the time. They settled down immediately to live on a farm and Mrs. Arcos "helped every step of the way to make a good home." For many years they lived on the farm now owned by Edgar Stiegler.

Twenty-four children, 14 sons and ten daughters, were born to the couple within 24 years. Some died in infancy or early childhood. Fourteen grew to adulthood and of those, 13 survive.

They are Mrs. Ben (Maria) Diaz, now 64 and the oldest of the family, who lives in Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Frank (Irene) Rubio; Luz Arcos, Jose Arcos, Mrs. Steven (Ursula) Bernal; Crescencio Arcos; Mrs. Rafael (Paula) Martinez; Mrs. G. E. (Alice) Pedroza; Manuel Arcos; Jesse Arcos; Mrs. Jose (Lupe) Hinojosa; Simon Arcos; and George Arcos, the youngest who is now 30. All but Mrs. Diaz live in Texas, most of them in Hondo.

Five of the Arcos sons served in World War II. Vicente, Jr., saw duty in Italy, Germany, France and North Africa and died later in Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Hospital.

"Our children," said Mr. Arcos, "were given the best education we could afford. He recalls the days of 4-and-5 cent cotton, a major crop, and corn, "beautiful corn," that brought only 30 cents per bushel.

"That is when I learned the importance of a home garden to feed a big family," he said, "and I know we never went hungry. All it takes to keep well and happy is a willingness to work for what one has or wants."

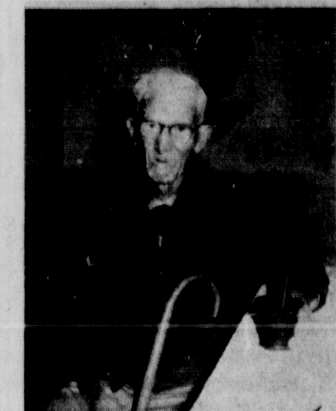

GRANDCHILDREN

Mr. and Mrs. Arcos have had 67 grandchildren, 63 of whom are living. Their great-grandchildren now total 106. "Too many," said their great-grandfather, "to remember all the names, but enough to make us proud and happy."

Vicente says that he never had any ambition to follow a career. He had one uncle who was a lawyer. "The farm life suited me best," he says.

Two of his grandchildren are professional men. Crescencio Arcos, Jr., received his B.A. degree from the University of Texas and is now seeking his law degree at St. Mary's University, San Antonio.

Another grandson is Lt. Greg E. Pedroza, Jr., who has received his PhD in chemistry and is now on duty at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. In April, Lt. Pedroza will report to The Pentagon, Washington, D.C. for assignment there in his field of study. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregorio E. (Alice) Pedroza.

POLITICS

Asked if he took an interest in politics, Mr. Arcos answered unhesitatingly, "Al-ways. I value the right to vote. I have registered here this year, as required by law, and I intend to vote in every election if I am physically able to do so."

Teddy Roosevelt was among his favorite Presidents, he said, and added that he considered President Kennedy, "as one of our finest young Presidents."

Mr. Arcos is a 50-year member of the Woodmen of the World and he is also a member of the congregation of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

His vision is still good, although his hearing is somewhat impaired. He enjoys watching television programs "even if I don't understand all that goes on." He taps his cane to the dance music, remembering younger days when he used to dance "at a pretty fast step."

Vicente Arcos and his devoted wife, now 79, live quietly and find much pleasure in their frequent visits from their large family.

They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1952 and 500 relatives were present for the happy occasion.

"It is fine to have memories," said Mr. Arcos, "but it is better to try to keep on building them."

BURGLARIES

The summer home of Dr. Pat H. McKay at Mico, Texas was burglarized on the 23rd of February, by three known addicts and burglars. The home was entered by breaking out the window and then a television, radio and other household goods were taken. Mr. Conrad Wurzbach, who also owns a home nearby, saw a car parked near the houses and took the license number. When he started toward the houses the burglars fled. Also broken in the same day, was the home of Dr. John Dale, of San Antonio, Texas. The license number led to the arrest of a 30-year old San Antonio man. One subject, is currently out on bond for possession of narcotics, and the other two are sought on warrants of arrest. Both are known addicts. The stolen property was abandoned near the place where the car was parked.

Other homes burglarized by the above, were those of Sgt. Ray Byers, San Antonio Police Department and the Conrad Wurzbach home. Arrested by Sgt. Dave Flores he was released to Sheriff Hitzfelder, who conducted the investigation and solved the burglary.

ARSON

Saturday, March 2, 1968, a fire was discovered burning in a five-gallon can under the Texaco Co. Warehouse in D'Hanis, Texas. However, the fire was found before it got the building started burning. According to juvenile officers in Beaumont, two of the juveniles have prior records for theft and burglaries.

BURGLARY

FFA NEWS

The Vocational Agriculture classes are starting study for livestock, poultry and dairy judging contests. Each boy will be given a choice as to the group he will be working with. There are certain procedures that must be followed in any and all judging events. The contestant must learn how to properly fill in the information called for on the different scoring cards. He must also know what characteristics are desired in the particular animal or birds that he is placing.

The student who prepares for these different contests learns some object lessons other than that learned in judging livestock. He learns that a number of factors should be considered in making the proper placing, that the scoring cards for the different types of livestock place more value on certain body characteristics than on others. He also learns that the cards must be completely filled in if he is to receive any credit for that particular class of animals.

The Hondo classes will be entering three judging contests in March. On March 9 they will participate in a practice judging event at Texas A&M University; on March 16, they will be in the SWTSC Agricultural Contest at San Marcos. On March 19, the district FFA Judging Contest will be held here in Hondo.

The nine boys who represent the Hondo classes at Area VII contest should be our better judges by the process of competition. The scoring of the individual in the different contests will determine whether or not he moves on in to Area Judging Competition.

TRAINING SESSION

More than 125 4-H and FFA members, parents and interested persons attended the Meat training session conducted at the Hondo High School cafeteria recently. Bill Nix, Beef Sales manager for Roegel Provision Company, San Antonio, discussed the steer carcass.

The steer was that of Vince Gilliam, Hondo 4-H member shown at the local livestock show in February and purchased by the Hondo Livestock Auction. The steer weighed 1,110 pounds and dressed 60.32 percent (655 pounds). This is lower than the other calves in the Hondo show which averaged over 66 percent, this being the primary reason for the calf placing down in the class.

Nix discussed the carcass yield and explained the present grading system that packers used. Also present to assist with the program was Charles Maltzberger, head buyer for Roegel Provision Company, assisted in answering questions that referred to the animal on foot rather than the carcass.

The program was summarized by Glenn Bragg, CAA, with a cost analysis of the 66 percent yielding carcass and the 60.32 percent carcass. There was a difference of more than $27 in value of the carcasses.

HERE IN HONDO

Mr. and Mrs. John McAnelly, Gene and Nita, attended the home coming festivities at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, last weekend. Their son, John, conducted one of the musical numbers and he sang with a choral group. He will appear with the University's traveling group of musicians and singers when they present a program at HemisFair early in April and in Uvalde shortly thereafter.

4-H, FFA MEMBERS, their parents and interested persons attended the meat training sessions in the Hondo High School cafeteria recently. Bill Nix, beef sales manager for a San Antonio firm, was moderator. Charles Maltzberger, also of San Antonio, assisted Nix. One hundred twenty-five people were in attendance.

DEANERY RALLY HELD IN D'HANIS

The Hondo Deanery Rally was held in D'Hanis Sunday, March 3. A welcoming speech was given by D'Hanis president, Greg Rothe.

Chris Ducos, spiritual chairman, reported that the St. Louis CYO would sponsor a Day of Recollection for the deanery and she urged all members to participate.

Cultural chairman, Greg Rothe, announced that the Fine Arts Festival will be held at the CYO Center in San Antonio. He also reported the CYO One-act play competition has been postponed. Ron Mangold, physical chairman, reported that plans were being made for a softball tournament for both the girls and the boys.

Social chairman Cathy Rihn talked about the Green and White Ball, held February 9 in San Antonio. She also is making plans for a deanery outing. Father Victor from D'Hanis talked about some of the clubs joining the Youth Section of the Catholic State League.

A dance was held after the meeting.
